

One School, One Book is Coming to Day School!

Dear Parents,

We are so excited to share with you our fall school reading event: One School, One Book. This year, over the course of a month, every family and staff at Day School will read the same book at home. At school we will have trivia contests, prizes and fun activities to bring a sense of community between home and school. Teachers have secretly voted for one of three book choices and the winning book will be announced during our "big reveal" at school. Your donation of $10 will enable every family to participate and support our school wide activities. We look forward to sharing this memorable experience with you and your family!

Happy reading,
Alison Bates
